Spectacular Landmarks

Keigani boasts many historic sites, including Keigani Honmonji, a Buddhist temple with the oldest five-story pagoda in the Kanto region, and Keigani Baien, a beautiful plum garden that was once the home of a renowned painter. Both spots are popular for spring flower viewing; Keigani Honmonji for cherry blossoms and Keigani Baien for plum blossoms.

Sights and Scents

The Senzokuike area, with its signature pond and natural sites, is an outdoor hotspot with year-round activities, including cherry blossom viewing, paddle boat riding, and bird-watching. Nearby also lies the resting place of Katsu Kaishu (1823-1899), an eminent samurai credited as the founder of Japan's naval army. The local Katsu Kaishu Memorial Museum honors his life's achievements.

A Foodie's Paradise

Kamata, the heart and soul of Ota City, is its most bustling area, day and night. It is famed for its diverse food scene that ranges from Japanese staples like ramen noodles and 'tonkatsu' pork cutlets to its signature 'hanetsuki' winged gyoza. Kamata is also home to many 'sento' public bathhouses, including several prominent 'kuroyu', mineral-rich black water baths.

Creative Exploration

Magome is home to many cultural sites and museums. In the early 1900s, the area attracted numerous writers and artists due to its peaceful surroundings, which led to its nickname, Magome Bunshimura (Writer's Village). Discover works of the prominent artist Hasui Kawase (1883-1957) at the Ota City Folk Museum or paintings by Kowabata Ryushi (1885-1966) at the Ryushi Memorial Museum.

Hello! I'm Haneyon!

Meet the friendly face of Ota City, Haneyon! This mascot was inspired by Haneda Airport and the city's numerous cherry blossom spots and public bathhouses.

1 SAKURA COLLAR
Haneyon's collar represents Ota's famed Cherry Blossom viewing areas, such as Sakura-zaka and Senzokuike.

2 AIRPLANE HAT
Haneyon's yellow airplane hat is a nod to Haneda Airport, Tokyo's main gateway to the skies.

3 BUCKET
Haneyon's bucket conveys Ota City's deeply-rooted public bathhouse and its unique hot springs.
